NOW I'LL BELIEVE IN PURPLE SNOW!

It was that time of year again. The end of January, just when the academic workload is beginning to take on gigantic proportions and we are all starved for something just a little extraordinary. NEVER FEAR - PURPLE SNOW WAS HERE! Carnival '85, a week chock-full of events designed to ensure we all got a fair chance at going crazy! The annual palm tree and sand extravaganza - the PUR-PLE PASSION POOL PARTY inaugurated the week's events and proved to be, for the 400 or so people in attendance, a definite blowout! Some people are still trying to get the sand out from between their toes! The party carried on throughout the week with AFTER-NOON PUBS featuring local singers, magicians, and comedians - not to mention the very sensational FASHION SHOW. Every night of the week saw Concordia students doing the party tradition proud - be it the messy, messy PUB CRAWL, the really crazy LET'S GO CRAZY BASH, the 1999 NEW YEAR'S EVE PARTY, and of course the funfilled CARE BEAR BASH! Other highlights of the purple flaked week included the inspiring MALE BEAUTY PAGEANT featuring some of Concordia's best thighs, as well as the SKATING PARTY on the Rideau Canal move over Toller Cranston! The week came to a close with the SKI TRIP to Mont Tremblant where of course the Apres Ski turned out to be the most popular activity of the day! Last but not least was the grand GALA ON THE MEZZANINE which saw the Hall Building mezzanine transformed into a glittering night club featuring the dynamic talents of TCHUKON!

All in all it was a wonderful week created by some special students dedicated to bringing Concordia the best in fun.

CONCORDIA FETE

Concordia Fete kicked off eight months of celebration September 13 to mark the 10th anniversary of Concordia University.

"The 10th Anniversary is an opportunity for each and everyone to reaffirm our commitment to the University and to take pride in our achievements. We have cause to be proud as we look ahead to the future," said Rector Patrick Kenniff to the large crowd gathered mid-morning in the Hall Building. "And today we're going to have fun," he added.

Concordia Fete officially began as Chancellor W. Earle McLaughlin cut into the huge birthday cake decorated with Concordia's crest. Onlookers included University dignitaries and visitors such as Claude Frenière, representing Mayor Jean Drapeau, MNA Reed Scowen and MP Jacques Guilbault. Frenière addressed the gathering, congratulating the University and wishing it continued success.

The first event of the day had over 100 marathon racers from the ranks of faculty, staff, students and the public head from the Hall Building to cover the 7.5 km from the downtown to the west end campus. First place winner was Michael Charbonneau, from the public, who clocked in at 22 min. 20 sec. Among women the first place position was taken by Jackie Dubé, an Exercise Science Student, at 25 min. 40 sec. The Master's category (over 40-year-olds) was won by Ernest Haifeli, Engineering Faculty staff, at 23 min. 23 sec.

Meanwhile, non-runners were browsing through the many displays at the downtown and west end campuses—both indoors and out. Several open houses were also underway along with carnival rides and musical groups.

FAMILIAR

PLACES

People of all ages decide to go to university these days. Young adults find after their first years in the work force that they need university training. Married women whose children are growing up, can begin to prepare for a career or may just wish to start studying again. Older people, perhaps nearing retirement, seek new opportunities and interests.

In keeping with the traditional policy of the University towards older students, Mature Entry is designed to enable individuals who are twenty-one years of age or older, and who have not satisfied the normal admission requirements, but have demonstrated potential, to take undergraduate programmes. The University assumes that the age of the students will have allowed them to acquire informally some of the general education given to younger students at the collegial level, and as a result the Mature Entry Requirement concentrates on the knowledge and skills which will be needed to undertake a given programme of specialization.

These students, coming to university for the first time or even returning after a long absence, appreciate special academic guidance. For this reason the Faculty of Arts & Science has established the Centre for mature students, and its aims are:

a) to provide mature students with the academic guidance and moral support they need for full participation in the mainstream of university life; and

b) to maintain Concordia's tradition of involvement in the field of adult education and help develop its ability to meet the challenges of growth in this sector in the coming decades.

To carry out its goals, the Centre has a "home base" on each campus. Besides a director and an associate director, there are "Fellows" who are faculty members from a cross-section of the disciplines in the Faculty, chosen for their interest in adult education. The Fellows are on duty a stated number of hours each week to advise and assist mature students and otherwise assist the Centre in the implementation of its aims.

In general, mature students are just like everyone else. They attend courses and take up whatever other activities appeal to them. But they have their own advisory service in the Centre and students in the mature student programmes of the Faculty of Arts & Science automatically become members of the Centre.

The Institute for Co-Operative Education was introduced in the fall of 1981. It is Concordia's most recent college.

Co-Operative Education is an educational process in which academic study terms alternate with work terms degree. It is a system that integrates the mutual interests of employers, educators and students towards the attainment of common goals. The Co-Operative Education concept as practised in a number of Canadian Universities has been so successful in developing career opportunities, that a recent survey suggested that Co-Op students are a University's most marketable product.

There are three departments within the faculty of Arts & Science that have a Co-Operative component within their programmes. A total of 166 students have been enrolled in Chemistry, Economics and Mathematics through the Institute for Co-Operative Education. The academic department is responsible for all academic matters whereas the Institute oversees the aspects associated with the work terms.

Acceptance into the Co-Operative programme requires that students meet the conditions of admission for either the honours or specialization programme. They enroll as regular full time undergraduate students. Four work terms are interspersed with six academic terms.

Once admitted into the Co-Operative Education programme, students are assigned an academic Co-Op advisor whose function is to assist the student with academic planning, job selection and the resolution of any difficulties that may arise during the Co-Op experience.

Preceding each work term representatives of I.C.E. solicit job commitments and job descriptions from employers. Students prepare resumes and apply to the jobs of interest. Employers select students to be interviewed and following this process employers rank students and vice versa. The final job assignment is the responsibility of the Institute.

A work term is of four months duration during which each student must work a minimum of fourteen weeks.

responsibility of the institute.

A work term is of four months duration during which each student must work a minimum of fourteen weeks.

Students are paid for their work. Although no University credits are assigned for the work term each student must successfully finish the work term and submit a formal work term report. Both the employer and the University evaluate the quality of the student work. A representative of the University is required to visit the Student during the work experience.

Students have thus far worked in both the public and private sectors. Although students are placed across Canada and sometimes in the United States the majority of jobs are found in Quebec and Ontario.

COLLEGES

INSTITUTES

The distinguishing feature of Liberal Arts College is its required core curriculum of 42 credits. The focus of College work is in Western Society and Culture seen through a set of interconnecting syllabi and involves a systematic study into literature, political and intellectual thought, philosophy, religion, art, music and the history of science.

The College is intended for able students who are serious about their undergraduate education. All College courses are seminars and careful textual reading is emphasized. To be admitted to L.A.C., students are required to sit through an interview. In special circumstances, we may grant permission for a non-College student to enrol in one of our seminars. It should be noted that a minimum grade requirement in all College courses is required in order to remain as a student in good standing.

The College building includes offices, seminar-rooms, Common-room, and "research reading" area which contains multiple copies of our required texts and many supplementary readings. We have an active Liberal Arts Society and students play an important role in many aspects of College life. The College, as part of its first-year curriculum annually visits New York for a series of museum visits and related cultural activities. Our final year Integrative Seminar has, in alternate years, included a European experience. Past visits have been to Austria, Greece and Israel.

Lonergan University College commenced operations in 1979. Each year a group of Fellows and Students study together the works of a thinker of international stature e.g. Lonergan, Jung, Machiavelli, etc. In this past year, we have studied Darwin; next year we shall consider the impact of Goethe on European thought.

The Fellows are drawn from all Departments of the University - anthropology, English, chemistry, communication studies, theology, music, philosophy etc. The Fellows' Seminars are conducted by a Distinguished visitor who is an acknowledged expert in the chosen field of study. This year we had the services of Dr. D. Oldroyd, of the School of History and Philosophy of Science, University of New South Wales. The whole point of Lonergan University College is that the Fellows and Students approach their annual subject from the viewpoint of their own disciplines; the approach is interdisciplinary, or even infradisciplinary, since all dig deep to disclose and examine the assumptions implicit in the running of our own unique

It is important to realize that both Fellows and Students of Lonergan University College are on the same level in their inquiries. There is guidance from the Distinguished Visitor only; for the rest, it is a mutual discovery of life-informing truths by both Fellows and Students. The point is; how much do we consider relevant to us, as persons, the thought of Machiavelli or Darwin or Teresa of Avila? For many, this is the only type of education that is worthwhile.

Bernard Lonergan, after whom the College is named, died in December, 1984, just short of his 80th birthday. Although the College is in no sense committed to Lonergan's philosophy, it remains true that his generalized empirical method forms a useful starting point in our endeavours to exploit the universal desire to know - to know who said what but, above all, to know ourselves.

Community and Public Affairs is a diverse and rapidly growing field of activity. In general, it includes the institutions and processes through which concerned citizens and organized groups interact so as to improve the collective well-being of their communities. The many professionals who work in this area are concerned with community building in all its dimensions.

community building in all its dimensions.

The purpose of the School of Community and Public Affairs is to prepare candidates for positions either in the public or private sectors as public affairs specialists. The School prepares students who wish to pursue post-graduate work in public affairs or public administration. The curriculum aims at the blending of vocational and scholarly values so as to produce graduates who are well educated in a broad sense.

Students enrolled in the programme benefit from a unique combination of the following components: (a) an internship programme within which students receive credit for working in a public-affairs-related job; (b) a bilingual environment; (c) a combination of a Major in a discipline with what is essentially a multidisciplinary programme; (d) a common institutional setting for colloquia, discussion, and study relevant to community and public affairs.

One of the primary aims is to provide an environment, that is conductive to the community and public affairs.

One of the primary aims is to provide an environment that is conducive to discussing and learning about public affairs. It is believed that what students do outside of formal courses is as important as the classroom experience itself. The building which the School occupies is ideal inasmuch as it facilitates personal contact and easy communication between students and visiting practitioners. Facilities include a common room, reading room and documentation centre, a seminar room, faculty and student offices.

The School also houses the independent Institute for Research on Public Policy, one of Canada's best-known realized in the content of the provided in the provided in the content of the provided in the provided in the content of the provided in the p

In the Science College, students gain an understanding of several areas of science, while specializing in whichever one they choose. Curricular structures frequently restrict students to one discipline or another. To help overcome this, the Science College has designed a series of courses to show what practising physicists think about physics; what mathematicians do when they are thinking mathematics:-

not "an introduction to", but "the state of the art".

The College provides an opportunity for students to become acquainted with science as practised and understood by scientists today. Its curriculum is planned to allow students to specialize in any one of the disciplines of science, while, at the same time, fulfilling the goal of the College-to provide an opportunity for research experience, for thinking about the nature of science, and for becoming aware of the style and content of the various scientific disciplines.

In the College, students have the opportunity to participate in research in each of their university years. They are also provided with an opportunity to consider the nature of science by taking courses in the intellectual and social context of science. Designed for science students in particular, these courses raise questions of interest to scientists and are based upon an understanding of the subject matter of science.

The College offers students the opportunity and facilities to discuss matters of interest among themselves and with their professors. The College also invites scientists to visit the University to meet College students.

The Simone de Beauvoir Institute exists to provide an environment in which teaching and research in the trea of Women's Studies can flourish; to stimulate the investigation, understanding and communication of the historical and contemporary role of women in society, and to encourage women to develop their potential to the Three areas of activity are necessary for the achievement of the Institute's goals: the Women's Studies academic programmes, research in areas related to Women's Studies, and co-curricular activities such as conferences, discussion groups, workshops on subjects such as math anxiety or money wisdom, guest lectures and weekends at the Lacolle Centre. These three branches exist as an integrated whole.

Students registered for a major, minor or certificate programme in Women's Studies are ipso facto members of the Institute. Other undergraduate students from any Faculty may become members upon agreeing to take a specified number of credits in W.S. All members must complete the Fellow Seminar.

RECTOR'S MESSAGE

The 1984-85 academic year has been a remarkable one for Concordia University. We have not only celebrated our 10th Anniversary in a manner fitting an institution of such importance within Quebec, but we have also taken major steps towards seeing that the next 10 years - and indeed, beyond - will be even brighter.

Certainly the main achievement of the past year has been securing formal approval for the construction of much-needed library and academic space on both Concordia campuses. As students, you know better than most the very difficult physical conditions with which your better than most the very difficult physical conditions with which your university has had to cope for many years. New construction will alleviate some, although by no means all of those difficulties. If the University has succeeded in building a solid reputation and attracting very qualified students, it has been due to the strength and the imagination of its academic community, students and faculty.

As you graduate, you are not really leaving Concordia; you are in fact taking a part of the institution with you. At a time when some are questioning the importance of university education for the development of our society, Concordia's alumni can play a crucial role in defending and supporting the vital mission of the University. I urge you to do this with the talents which you have developed at university and which you will continue to develop in your future careers.

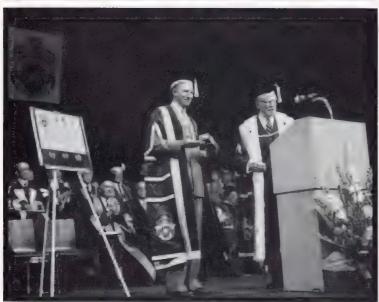

and which you will continue to develop in your future careers.

Graduation is truly a moment of celebration. I congratulate you on your achievement which reflects well not only on yourselves but on the entire university community. I wish you every success in the future challenges you will encounter. Your personal pride of achievement will be matched by that of your Alma Mater.

Patrick Kenniff Rector & Vice-Chancellor

After seventeen years of distinguished service as professor and senior administrator at Loyola/Concordia, Rev. Dr. Russell Breen is leaving his position as Vice-Rector, Academic. Those who have known him as friend and colleague will miss his rich sense of humour, his accessibility and his willingness to go to bat for "the just cause"

A graduate of both Loyola High School and Loyola College, Father Breen was appointed to the Department of Theological Studies in 1968. January 1970 saw him as Acting Dean of Arts of the College, during a period of student and faculty unrest. Named in a regular capacity some months later, he became Dean of the Loyola Faculty of Arts & Science at the time of the creation of Concordia University. Dr. Breen was the moving force behind the establishment of the single University Faculty of Arts & Science, and has held the position of Vice-Rector, Academic since its inception in 1977. In addition to his academic responsibilities, Father Breen always had a special interest in student life at the University, and was, for many years, the senior administrator responsible for Student Services.

Dr. Breen was also a familiar figure in the Montreal community. Over the years, he has been active with the Council on English Language Social Services, the Foundation of Catholic Community Services and Alliance Quebec, in addition to several interuniversity bodies and his extensive involvement in many groups of the Catholic Archdiocese of Montreal. In 1981, Pope John Paul II appointed Father Breen a Prelate of Honour, with the title of Monsignor.

Dr. Breen has always embodied the Loyola spirit and tradition. He could always be counted upon to contribute selflessly to the edification and growth of the dynamic University that is Concordia. In sincere appreciation for all he has done and been over the years, the 1985 edition of the Concordia Yearbook is dedicated to Rev. Dr. Russell Breen.

The 1984 season marked the first time since 1981 that the Concordia Stingers did not make the Ontario-Quebec Intercollegiate Football Conference play-offs as injuries hampered the team's progress.

Concordia opened the pre-season with a 21-15 victory over the York Yeomen, but it turned out to be a Pyrrhic victory as veteran quarterback Joe Cerino suffered a knee injury that would sideline him for the next four games. At the same time coach Skip Rochette found out that running back sensation Albert Calaguiro would miss the entire season due to a severe case of mononucleosis. However, using a strong running attack led by Ed Shirley and Mark Simpson, and an aggressive defense, the Stingers edged the Carleton Ravens 15-13 in their league opener. The following week the inexperience of freshmen quarterbacks Steve Preston and Scott Nichol proved costly for the Stingers as they dropped a 27-23 decision to the Bishop's Gaiters. Concordia continued to flounder as their winless stretch stretched to three as they lost to arch-rival McGill and to Bishop's in successive weekends.

With their backs to the wall, Rochette's squad responded with a hard-fought 19-14 win over the McGill Redmen in the annual Shaughnessy Cup contest, Concordia's first cup victory in 7 years.

The Stingers' momentum was short-lived as the Queen's Golden Gael rallied the following week to defeat Concordia 27-25 and eliminate them from the play-off picture. Concordia salvaged a .500 season the following week as they closed out the season with a 29-18 triumph over the Ottawa Gee-Gees before a nationally-televised audience.

Individually, halfbacks Ed Shirley (5.6 yards per carry) and Mark Simpson (5.0 ave.) both had excellent seasons despite nagging injuries. Rookie kicker Dan Malats was the Stingers' top scorer with 51 points, including a school record nine field goals. The experience gained by Preston and Nichol, along with the return of Cerino should give the offensive attack more stability next season.

However, the most impressive individual performances were by the team's four league all-stars, led by All-Canadian Nick Benjamin. Benjamin was selected to the All-Canadian team for the second year and was picked as the Canadian Football League's number one draft pick. Greg Miller, Lance Harry and Roger Mayer were named with Benjamin to the OQIFC all-star team as well as being drafted in the CFL draft.

The Concordia men's team withstood several obstacles to post a 15-7 record and nearly advanced to the CIAU Regionals.

When the season began head coach Doug Daigneault was without an experienced point guard or center. However, the play of freshman center Steve Mau and guards Parnell Joseph and Bob Verrelli and veterans Craig Norman, Biagio Carrese, Ed Muha and Harout Tarakjian propelled the stingers to a 6-4 record by Christmastime.

As league play started in the second half the Stingers quickly took command of first place as they raced to a 7-1 league record including two victories over the McGill Redmen. However, just when Concordia appeared on the verge of clinching first place and an automatic bid to the CIAU Regional Play-offs, disaster struck. Needing only one more victory against the Redmen, Stinger ace Craig Norman suffered an ankle injury that forced him out of the line-up for the remainder of the season. With Norman on the sidelines, the players picked up the slack and Concordia won two of their next three games forcing a winner-take-all showdown against the McGill Redmen in the final game of the season. The Stingers took control early in the game and led at half time 39-28 behind the shooting of Biagio Carrese. The Redmen were not to be denied as they rallied in the second half to defeat Concordia 84-68, and advance to the Regionals.

Norman, an all-Canadian candidate, was the team leading scorer with a 23 points per game average and was selected to the QUAA all-star team along with forward Biagio Carrese. Freshman Steve Mau improved steadily throughout the year and was named as the league's Rookie of the Year, while coach Doug Daigneault was picked as the Coach of the Year.

The women's basketball team, mired in last place in the QUAA with a 2-9 record last year, capped off a remarkable turn about in 1984-85 as they captured the Quebec title and finished a strong fourth in the Canadian National Championships held at Bishop's University.

With seven new players and an ambitious schedule, Mike Hickey's squad lost several close games early in the season and sported a 7-10 record at the Christmas break. Two third place finishes in the prestigious Concordia and McGill tournaments enabled the Stingers to be ranked sixth in the National Top Ten Poll as league play got underway in January.

Concordia suffered a 52-51 defeat at the hands of the McGill Martlets in the league opener. However, the Stingers got their act together quickly winning eight straight games en route to their first league championship in seven years. The Stingers then defeated McGill in the play-off final and headed east to Lennoxville for the National Championships.

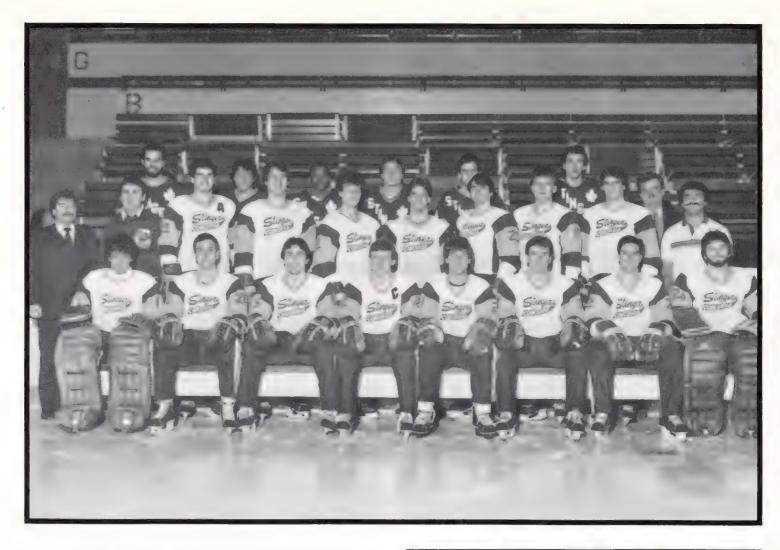

Concordia drew the Alberta Pandas in the opening round and completely dominated the taller Albertans with an impressive display of pressure defence. Led by Jane Bullock's 26 points Concordia downed Alberta 63-54 to advance to the semi-finals against the number one ranked Victoria Vikettes. Again the Stingers stubbornly refused to give in to their taller opponents. Trailing most of the game, Concordia rallied in the second half to cut Victoria's lead to two points with just eight minutes left in the game. However, foul trouble sealed the Stingers' fate as Victoria recorded a 63-54 win.

The Stingers came up strong in the battle for third place as they battled the University of Toronto Blues in a see-saw contest before the Blues emerged with a one point victory, 66-65.

Jane Bullock reaped countless individual awards, including QUAA all-star and CIAU Tournament all-star as well as being named QUAA "Athlete of the Week" on three different occasions. Teammate Denise Dignard was also named to the league all-star team while Hickey was selected as "Coach of the Year".

The big news in intercollegiate athletics at Concordia was the fact that for the first time in the school's history, the men's hockey team failed to ruin the Quebec championship. In fact, the Stingers finished last in the five team league with a record of 5-13-2 and failed to qualify for post-season play.

However, the injury-plagued Stingers still managed to post an impressive 11-6-2 record in non-conference play including wins over Toronto, St. Lawrence, Regina, Dartmouth, U.N.B. and Wilfrid Laurier.

The Stingers opened the season in impressive fashion winning six of their first eight games. However, they struggled in league play and by Christmas found themselves in an unfamiliar position, last place in the Quebec University Hockey League.

Concordia rebounded with a strong performance in the Annual Micron Tournament as they downed two strong teams in Cornell and Toronto to advance to the finals and a rematch against the Varsity Blues. Before a capacity crowd Toronto edged Concordia 5-4 in a double overtime contest.

The Stingers continued to struggle in the league as they lost five of their next seven league games and were eliminated from the play-offs. A season-ending 6-3 victory over their cross-town rivals, the McGill Redmen in the Annual Chaisson Cup game, ended a disappointing season on a positive note.

Mark Kosturik, the team's leading scorer with 72 points (30 goals, 42 assists), capped off an outstanding season by being named to the league's all-star as well as the CIAU All-Canadian team. Kosturik also played with the Canadian Olympic team over the Christmas holiday. Gilles Lascelle, a second year defenseman, was also named to the QUHL all-star squad.

Head coach Les Lawton's women's hockey team entered the season in a rebuilding phase, uncertain of what to expect during the year. But the young skaters, with only five returnees from last year's team, showed vast improvement throughout the year and ended the season as a strong play-off contender.

Concordia's inexperience was evident early in the season as they dropped their first six games, often by large margins. The Stingers finally broke into the victory with an exhibition win over Pointe Claire in early November. They followed with three ties against league opponents McGill and Bishop's and were tied for last place at the Christmas break.

In the second semester Concordia turned it around winning two and tying one in their last five games in league play. In the first round of play-offs the Stingers went against the McGill Martlets. McGill won both games 2-1 with the final game going into overtime, ending a satisfying season for coach Lawton.

Emeline Geukers, who shared the goaltending duties with Karen Kane, was selected as the team's Most Inspirational Player award and received Concordia's Sportsmanship Trophy. Andrea Hébert, who scored 10 points on 6 goals and 4 assists in 11 league games was selected as the Most Valuable Player. Karen West received the Most Improved Player Award.

The Concordia men's soccer team turned a new page in its history as Andy Onorato replaced Harry Hus as head coach. Thus ended an era at the West End campus that Concordia followers will remember fondly. In thirteen years at Loyola/Concordia, coach Hus recorded 10 league championships and two national titles.

Coach Onorato displayed early that he has both the ability and the desire to return the soccer Stingers to their glory days. Despite inheriting a team that was in a rebuilding season, Onorato guided them to a second place finish in the QUAA, losing to the defending champion McGill Redmen 3-0 in a sudden-death play-off.

After losing the season opener, 3-2 to UQAM, the Stingers went undefeated for the next six games, including a 1-1 tie against McGill. With first place on the line in the regular season finale, the Stingers came up a little short, losing to McGill 2-0. A week later, McGill advanced to the Nationals with the 3-0 play-off win over the Stingers.

Concordia received strong play throughout the season from veterans Glen Palmer (a 1983 all-Canadian selection), Reeves Anthony, Rouzbeh Yazdani, Ron Ruffner, Richard Enos and goalie Derek Smith. However, the most encouraging aspect of the past season was the play of two first year players, Bobby Donaldson and Ethelbert Anthony. Anthony was selected to the QUAA all-star team and both players played for the Quebec selects.

The Concordia Wrestling team became the first Concordia team to capture back-to-back national championships as they tied the host McMaster University for the 1985 title.

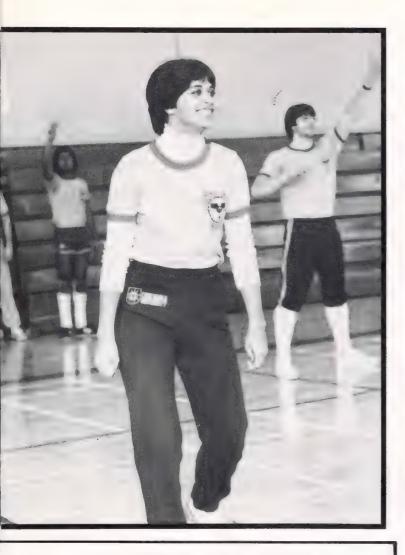

The Stingers, the only QUAA school to compete in wrestling, advanced to the Nationals with a convincing win in the Eastern Regionals in St. John's, Newfoundland. Coach Victor Zilberman's squad completely dominated the match as all six wrestlers qualified for the national tournament.

Pat Sullivan won a gold medal in the 68 kilogram category and was named as "Canada's Outstanding Wrestler" for the second consecutive year. Teammate Graham Dadswell was also a gold medalist, capturing the 72 kilogram categories. Mike Sullivan, Serge Marcil, Mike Enos and Doug Yates also won silver medals in their respective categories.

Following their victory in Hamilton, the wrestlers treated Concordia fans to a unique opportunity, a match held in the Loyola Gymnasium against the Cuban National team. All in all another banner year for coach Zilberman and his squad.

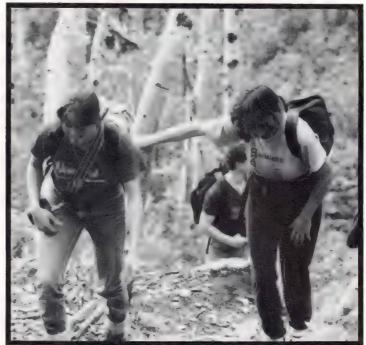

ALPINE SKIING

The Concordia varsity ski team survived internal problems and fielded two men and women's teams that performed well in several QUAA meets.

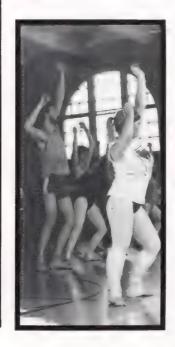

Both the men's and women's teams finished fourth in the QUAA overall standings. Laurent Beauchemin, a former National team member, was the top individual skier, finishing third in the men's standings, while Mark Scheib came in 12th and François Perrier was 13th. Renata Scheib was the top woman skier, placing sixth in the overall season.

Nine skiers from Concordia were also named to represent the school in the Canadian-American University Championship hosted by McGill in February. The race featured the top skiers from the Fédération International du Ski. Concordia representatives included Beauchemin, Scheib, Perrier, Paul Zaleski on the men's side and Scheib, Janique Snyder, Aimée Trudel and Catherine Daoust for the women.

Concordia said goodbye to one of its more special employees this year with the retirement of Mrs. Theresa Humes. Mrs. Humes, who works more specifically in the sports information department, has been working at Loyola for the past 18 years. She started in 1967 at the Campus Ministry, working at Belmore House

"It was initially a live in house for priests who were training to go into the clergy. It was run by the diocese of Montreal, and I was a secretary there. There were five or six young men there at the time, and after a couple of years Belmore House became just the Campus Ministry as the priests left." By this time it was 1972 and the CEGEP's were existing on both McGill and Concordia (then Loyola) campuses. These years Mrs. Humes remembers fondly. "You had all these kids out of high school, with lots of enthusiasm and lots of spirit, just hanging out there. There would be 50-60 kids a day going in and out. They'd organize ski trips and hiking trips. I'd help them organize and it would be a lot of fun. It was like one big Family is something Mrs. Humes knows all about. Mrs. Humes' youngest child Theresa, is in her second year of philosophy at Concordia. The others in the Montreal area are David, Billy and John. She has 1 in Ingleside, Ontario, 2 in PEI, Susan and Maryanne, 2 in Toronto, Cathy and Jennifer, and 2 in Ottawa, Nancy and Brian. After you have 11 children, you get to be an expert on the warmth, the tenderness, and the nurturing that family situations are supposed to be about.

'After the students left, it wasn't as much fun, so I took the job at Concordia." By this time it was 74-75, and Concordia University was being formed. There was a job at Athletics for a general secretary, and Mrs. Humes took the job.

She began to get involved with women's athletics from the start. That meant women's basketball (where she helped the capable coaching of head coach Mike Hickey), women's hockey, women's soccer, and the cheerleaders. Being secretary of the Athletics department meant keeping on top of schedules, trips, practices, getting referees, and putting out information like press releases. She would organize women's tournaments at Loyola, and then come out to every game to make sure things were going along smoothly.

When Pat Boland, the co-ordinator for women's athletics at Concordia, left in 1978, Mrs. Humes and Mike Hickey took over the reins of women's athletics at Concordia. While Mike handled the women's basketball team, Mrs. Humes tended to the soccer team, the cheerleaders, and of course, her pet project, the women's hockey team. "That's my baby," she says with a smile. Mrs. Humes has been co-ordinating the annual women's hockey tournament for years now, and it's "grown very well. At first we had only four teams, then we got a few more as interest picked up, and now there are eight teams in the tourney." While she didn't actually coach any of the teams she had her hand in helping out. "I've got a lot of faith in youth," she says, noting all the good kids she's had the pleasure of helping out through the years. She's become something of an aide and confident to them. "You share in their highs and lows. Like when morale is low and there's problems, you're like a listening ear for them. And when the team goes out and wins (like the women's hockey team has done with QUAA a couple of times) you share that with them too. And that makes it all seem worth it.'

Concordia realized her talents when, after her first year at Concordia, they presented her with an award, "for contributions to women's athletics.

Mrs. Humes' reasons for leaving Concordia are simple enough. She's just had enough. "There was a lot of pressure this year at athletics, and I said to myself, if this keeps up, I'm going to have a heart attack. So when the opportunity for early retirement came up, I took it. I sold my house, and that helped sink the deal.

Mrs. Humes has been around the Concordia area for a long time. All her life in fact. "I grew up on West Broadway. I went to grade 7 in Belmore House, the little red school house. Then I went to St. Ignatius, then from grade 8 to 11 I went to St. Augustine's school. Then I took a year at Notre Dame secretarial school. We learned shorthand, accounting, typing, French and religion. After that, because it had a good reputation as a business school, it was easy to get a job."

Mrs. Humes will be sorely missed. Much appreciated was the warmth she radiated and the good feeling she extended to everybody she came into contact with. In her own words, "I enjoy working with students. I cherish all their friendships, and want to thank each and every one for all their caring. In giving you receive." Beautiful.

With Best Wishes for Success in the Years Ahead.

DEAN OF STUDENTS OFFICE

Building together to meet the challenge of the times.

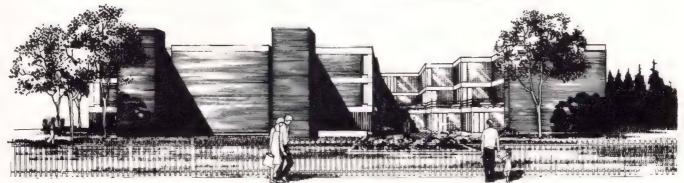

University Library Centre — Sir George Williams Campus View of nine-storey terraced and recessed structure as seen from the Henry F. Hall Building. The plan, devised by the architectural firm of Sankey Werleman Guy/Blouin, has been cited for fitting into the neighbourhood with "sensitivity" by Canadian Architect magazine which selected it for its award of excellence. The building will allow the library, as well as the Faculty of Commerce & Administration and several university departments to vacate scattered and costly rented facilities.

Vanier Library Extension -Loyola Campus Lower illustration shows how extension (doubling Vanier Library space) will run east from the original block at left. Scattered facilities will be consolidated in the enlarged structure freeing areas for other pressing needs. One of these is a senate chamber: Since Loyola and Sir George Williams merged, facilities have had to be rented at the PSBGM headquarters building.

National Chairman, William W. Stinson, President, Canadian Pacific Limited "I think it is important that we have a strong Concordia in Montreal - and for people to appreciate that Concordia serves all segments of the community - all levels of society. So if people see this, if they want their city to develop culturally and in economic terms, then they will see that Concordia needs library and laboratory facilities and I believe we shall get these people on board to help us."

THE POWER TO HEAL

Our symbol, the unicorn, is linked to the power to heal and cure. The advancement of medicine and the detection, prevention and cure of disease is our high goal, as it is yours.

We Want You For Your Money

Let's be honest about it.
We do want you for your money.
For that, and much, much more.
Sure, the Concordia Alumni Association holds dinners and parties and reunion extravaganzas.
Sure, we lay on special educational and cultural events, and arrange special purchasing deals and continuing library privileges for members.
And every few months everyone receives Concordia University Magazine for free.

Sounds like a come on, right? Right!

The fact is we organize all this because we need you. To help in the decision-making that shapes the University.

To help in fund drives for better facilities and scholarships.

To help ensure programs correspond with the working world as you experience it.

To help student recruitment efforts.

And yes, we need you to give money (when you have it to give), to help pay for the things other schools take for granted but Concordia still needs.

In short, we need you to help make Concordia better. But you don't just help others — in the end, you help yourself too.

The more active your alumni membership, the more Concordia's stature grows, and that reflects on your degree — and on you.

And you have fun in the bargain!

Every graduate is automatically enrolled in the membership of the Concordia University Alumni Association.

We hope you'll make your membership an active one.

Here's What We Do

Regular Contact:

Concordia University Magazine keeps readers posted on major developments at the university and some of the amazing things happening with graduates; news of coming events and other items of interest are also carried in the magazine or in supplemental mailings.

A Strong Voice:

Alumni concerns about university developments are voiced by representatives on the university's Board of Governors and in several advisory and decision-making bodies across the university.

Pictured with University Rector and Vice Chancellor Patrick Kenniff are members of the 1984-85 Concordia University Alumni Association board.

Participatory Membership:

Graduates are asked to participate in freshman orientation programs, career workshops and in an increasing variety of academic and extra-curricular projects.

A Finely-Tuned Machine:

The association came into being in 1982 on the recommendation of the Sir George Williams and Loyola alumni associations. Its first objective is to create fellowship between the founding associations and to strengthen links with all graduates so that they can be a strong voice in shaping Concordia. Equally important is graduate involvement in advisory, fund-raising and student recruitment activity. Graduating Class Officers: A vital part of the alumni are class officers who keep in touch with members of their graduating classes through newsletters and social and working get-togethers. They are the key people for organizing class reunions. Alumni Records: Graduates change their addresses an average of seven times in the first 10 years after graduation; postage costs have become horrendous and so it's important that you keep the alumni office posted on any change of address to avoid waste.

Chapter Network: There are now Concordia alumni chapters in Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver, Victoria, San Francisco and Los Angeles, and new chapters spring up as demand occurs. Concordia, Sir George Williams and Loyola also maintain a busy schedule of activities in Montreal year round.

Concordia University Scholarship Awards Presentation

Concordia's finest academic achievers were honoured at a reception held on May 15th, 1985 in the Loyola Faculty Club. Sixty-seven students were awarded scholarships for studies in progress. Attending the reception was Vice-Rector Academic, Dr. Francis Whyte who addressed the gathering of approximately one hundred people. Several individuals and corporate contributors to the scholarship fund were in attendance and had the opportunity to meet the scholarship recipients.

GREENHOUSE

While most of the activity in the Hall Building takes place from the 12th floor down, Hervé de la Fouchardière is busy preparing seedlings and plants for exhibition. demonstration and research up in the 13th floor greenhouse. He is the technician and horticulturalist for the biology department. Students of the biology and geography departments conduct research and experimentation in the greenhouse's temperature-controlled compartments. Fine Arts students use the greenhouse habitat for inspiration.

In times of economic restraint, a greenhouse is a luxury. To attain some sense of autonomy a greenhouse plant sale has been set up. This aids in alleviating the maintenance costs. In the rough-and-tumble concrete world of the downtown area, it is a wonder to step into a flourishing greenhouse - an environment filled with tropical and semi-tropical plants and trees.
